INVESTMENT PHILOSOPHY

PRINCIPAL INVESTORS: Coulton Creek was founded as a vehicle to generate current returns for a group of five experienced investors. From inception, founders and key employees have invested their own capital in each investment, which has guided our perspective for each opportunity and has created exceptional alignment with our investors.

Today, Coulton Creek manages approximately 60 positions for our founders and investors, with the original five founding principals investing in every deal and serving as the investment committee.

PRESERVATION OF PRINCIPAL: As principal investors, we prioritize preservation of principal and downside protection. We take a conservative approach to underwriting that reflects having our own skin in the game, and often seek a priority position in the capital stack.

CURRENT RETURNS: With a dedicated focus on generating strong current returns for our investors, Coulton Creek seeks resilient assets which are less sensitive to volatile market swings and resulting valuations.

RETURN OBJECTIVES: As an opportunistic investor without a need to deploy committed capital (in contrast to many funds), Coulton Creek can be selective in finding those investments which deliver superior risk adjusted returns.

LEADERSHIP

Chris Hanks – Managing Director

Chris co-founded Coulton Creek Capital in 2013 and has led the company in deploying over $277 million of direct investments, building a diversified portfolio of private real estate equity and debt. Today, Chris leads the Coulton Creek team setting the strategic direction for the firm, as well guiding investment decisions for Coulton Creek.

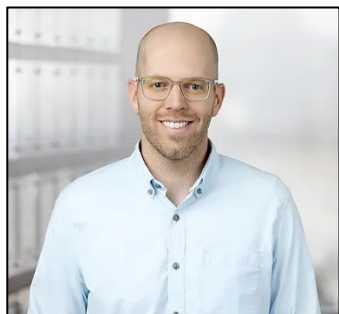

Before Coulton Creek, Chris was the CFO and COO of HealthTrans, a privately held pharmacy benefit manager. At HealthTrans, Chris helped grow revenue from $4 million to $300 million and raised $100 million in debt and equity to fund acquisitions and a minority recapitalization. Chris concluded his tenure with the company's $250 million sale in January 2012.

Will Hensley – Director

Will joined Coulton Creek Capital as the third employee in 2015. During his tenure, Will has been involved in almost every aspect of Coulton Creek. In his current role as Director, Will is responsible for sourcing new investment opportunities, as well as underwriting, due diligence and portfolio management duties.

Prior to joining Coulton Creek, Will worked in commercial banking where he acquired a diverse skill set included underwriting and portfolio management, as well as experience and oversight of distressed real estate assets.

Scott Brown – Director

Scott joined Coulton Creek Capital as a Director in 2022. Scott is responsible for sourcing and underwriting new real estate investment opportunities as well as assisting in portfolio management and investor relations responsibilities.

Prior to joining Coulton Creek, Scott worked at Real Capital Solutions, a Colorado-based real estate family office. Scott served as a member of RCS' Investment Committee evaluating the risks, cash flows, capital requirements, deal structuring, and the overall status of RCS' portfolio.
